We're looking for two marketing interns that are curious, driven and want to learn by doing. You'll join our marketing team, get a dedicated mentor, work closely with our Sales team and contribute to real projects that go live.

Internship 1: Digital Marketing Intern

In this role, you will contribute to various areas of digital marketing.

You will:

- help with the setup and further development of our new website,
- work with WordPress as a CMS,
- support the setup of marketing automation communications,
- assist with content transition and creation (copy and visual content).

A basic knowledge of digital marketing from your studies is important, but we also expect you to be eager to learn, independently explore new topics, and think along proactively.

We highly value a hands-on mindset combined with the ability to think strategically.

Internship 2: Creative Content Intern

In your creator role, you are our creative wizard who translates our content strategy into graphic and video content.

You will

- independently develop formats and content,
- thinking both strategically and creatively about their execution,
- look for ways to improve efficiency in content creation in the long term,
- explore how AI can be leveraged in this process.

You are familiar with tools such as Canva, Adobe Suite, and other creative software. You have a creative background with basic knowledge of graphic and video content creation.

At the same time, we expect you to be eager to learn, explore things independently, and think proactively. We highly value a mindset that combines thinking and doing.

Why join us?

At assessmentQ, how we get there matters as much as the result.

- Growth over ego – we learn fast, give feedback, and build each other up
- You are in the driver's seat – we love ownership, initiative, no waiting around
- Serious impact, light spirit – we work hard, stay human, and enjoy the ride
- Continuous improvement – test, learn, iterate, improve

In short: Collaboration, curiosity, and a drive to do things better, together!

Who you are

- You're a student in marketing, communication, digital media, or a related field
- You're curious, proactive, and eager to learn
- You enjoy working both independently and in a team
- You're comfortable communicating in English and Dutch.
- You're not afraid to try, test, and improve

Experience is not the most important thing, mindset is.

What you'll get

- A real marketing internship with ownership and impact
- A dedicated mentor to guide and challenge you
- Experience with SaaS, product marketing and sales collaboration
- A hybrid setup (office in Izegem and Ghent + remote work)
- A supportive and fun team
